

IN THE ABSTRACT

Please amend the Abstract as follows:

Systems and methods ~~are disclosed to~~ search for data responsive to first and second query concepts by generating a first expanded set of results from the first query concept; generating a second expanded set of results from the second query concept; determining an intersecting set of documents from the first and second expanded sets of results; and determining an explanation of a relationship for each document in the intersecting set of documents for each of the first and second query concepts.